My personal skills and qualities:

I am a punctual and hardworking individual who loves a challenge. With my love of sport, I am competitive and try to challenge myself as much as possible. I am very enthusiastic about sport both within and outside of lessons and it gives me a great sense of achievement and pride to see students achieve and succeed in performing a correct skill or enjoying a lesson. I have a good sense of humour and am always optimistic and positive; even on the most challenging of days. I believe myself to be incredibly supportive and a good listener and I always strive to give advice and help people as much as I can. Due to this, I feel I can build a strong rapport with both staff and students. I like to be involved in extra-curricular clubs as I believe students can benefit from these as well as lessons; this is something I want to play a big role in as an NQT.

My other interests and hobbies:

In my spare time I enjoy reading and taking my energetic spaniel Ted on long walks. I also enjoy visiting my local gym and going swimming. I recently spent 5 and a half weeks exploring the East Coast of America; I travelled to some amazing places from New York, Philadelphia, Washington DC, Charleston and continued down towards Orlando where I finished my travels. After doing this, travelling has become a real interest of mine and I want to continue to travel and see as many places as possible, not just in America, but all over the world. Recently I worked for a company that provides support for adults with learning disabilities and I thoroughly enjoyed interacting and learning about different people's behaviours and the support they need.
