Cricket is a key strength having coached professionally both in the UK and Australia and played to a high levelI have knowledge of the various examination courses that are available at KS4 and KS5 and in particular a good understanding of GCSE and Level 3 Cambridge Technical having taught both of these on my first placement. I particularly enjoyed delivering the socio-cultural influences of sport at GCSEI am able to successfully manage behaviour by building meaningful relationships with students built upon mutual respect and trustI have a strong desire and willingness to improve my knowledge and practice through responding to feedback, observing outstanding practice and attending CPD

My personal skills and qualities:

I believe my ability to form meaningful and lasting relationships with both colleagues and students is one of my key strengths. I am passionate about education and encourage the lasting effect that PE can have on students' holistic development. I believe that one of my greatest qualities is being able to communicate to students about important traits such as respect, honesty and integrity. By doing this, I believe I am a positive role model, not just in the classroom but in life as well.

My other interests and hobbies:

To describe myself as a sports enthusiast would be an understatement and in my spare time, I am a keen golfer and semi-professional cricketer. Through cricket, I have been presented with opportunities to play overseas in Australia, which ignited my passion for travel and adventure. Through sport I have made fantastic friends who I enjoy spending time with, most commonly on the golf course, but I do consider myself a "foodie" and enjoy eating out and sampling new and different cuisines. Finally, I am a massive advocate for men's mental health and support the Movember movement every year in order to raise awareness for the inspiring work the charity does. One of my proudest achievements this year was organising the SCITT Movember fundraiser where as a cohort we raised over £600.
