My personal skills and qualities:

Due to my participation in a wide variety of sports and the level at which I have participated in these, I am very organised and good with my time keeping. Through this I can communicate effectively with people and can work with others in both a leadership and supporting role. I have developed the ability through playing and coaching sport and more recently through teaching, to establish relationships that ensure everyone is able to reach their potential. Alongside this, I am very focused and driven to achieve any goals that I set myself or goals set by others. This has instilled an approach where I strive for excellence in anything that I do, whether it be sport, academic work or my teaching practice and this often rubs off onto others. To communicate in a holistic way, I am completing a British Sign Language Course to allow me to open more avenues for communication, and to allow me to work with children who may have hearing difficulties. I can adapt my teaching to a variety of situations as and when they arise and can utilise effective behaviour management strategies to engage and motivate all students.

My other interests and hobbies:

I am passionate towards exercise, looking for any opportunity to participate in any sport. Cricket is the main sport that I play, allowing for social contact with friends and to maintain my competitive edge. Due to the wide variety of subjects studied throughout my education, I have become increasingly interested in increasing my knowledge capacity. This is often done through reading which allows for unwinding, especially during busy times.
